

Selection downloaded 4/27/2007 from web1.msue.msu.edu/wildlife/nr%20mole.doc

Controlling Moles

Wildlife Series

Michigan State University Extension, Genesee County - (810) 244-8524

Traps - Trapping is the most successful and practical method of getting rid of moles. There are three excellent mole traps on the market. Any, if properly handled, will give good results. These traps depend on the same sort of mechanism for releasing the spring. A broad trigger snaps the trap as the mole upheaves the depressed portion of his surface burrow over which the trap is set. The brand name of these traps are: Out O' Sight, Victor mole trap and Nash (choker loop) mole trap.